
Gain per infant: held-out log predictive density (5-fold CV, n = 569) above a baseline that knows only each measure's mean and SD. Higher is better; a gap of 1 means the data are e ≈ 2.7× more plausible.